Re: Dynamech Engineering

Greg Gaucher of Dynamech Engineering has performed work for us over the past six months. The scope of work included designing and drawing a very obscure and challenging attachment used by our organization. Greg not only overcame the obvious challenges of the project, but also made significant improvements that were thought to be impossible prior to hiring Greg. This allowed our manufacturer to produce our attachment with much greater ease and also reduced our manufacturing costs as a result.

Greg has been excellent to deal with on a personal level, and I highly recommend him to any company with needs in these areas.

Yours truly,

Cavitt industries Inc.
